

Noah Prince, MD

Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeon
Chapin Aesthetics
253 W. State Street, Doylestown PA 18901
267.880.0810 | www.drchapin.com

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

- University of Florida, Gainesville, FL
 - Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery Resident ▪ 2013 – 2019
- Tufts University School of Medicine, Boston, MA ▪ M.D. ▪ 2011 - 2013
- Eastern Virginia Medical School, Norfolk, VA ▪ 2009 – 2011
- Harvard University, Cambridge, MA ▪ Post-Baccalaureate ▪ 2009
- Duke University, Durham, NC ▪ B.S. Biology (Neuroscience) ▪ 2004 - 2008

ADDITIONAL CLINICAL EXPERIENCE

EMT and Paramedic

▪ 2004 - 2013

- EMT (2004) paramedic (2006). Several certifications held including National Registry, Pediatric Advanced Life Support, Advanced Cardiac Life Support, International Trauma Life Support.
- Narberth Ambulance Volunteer Medical Service Corp., Narberth, PA
- Piedmont County Emergency Medical Services, Roxboro, NC
- Duke University Emergency Medical Services, Durham, NC

POSTER PRESENTATIONS

VAC Therapy to the Brain: A Safe Method for Wound Temporization in Complex Scalp and Calvarial Defects

- 2014 - University of Florida College of Medicine Research Day

Morphometric analysis of two breast reduction techniques: The Yin-Yang and the Inferior Pole Pedicle techniques

- 2013 - American Association of Plastic Surgeons Annual Meeting

PODIUM PRESENTATIONS AND LECTURES

VACs, Flaps and Reconstructive Surgery

- 2019 – FAET / Wound Care State Conference

Physician Assistant - Surgery Curriculum Lecturer

- 2018, 2019 – Surgical Infections
- 2017 – Surgical Infections, Basics of Anesthesia
- 2016 – Basics of Anesthesia

VAC Therapy to the Brain: A Safe Method for Wound Temporization in Complex Scalp and Calvarial Defects

- 2014 - South Eastern Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons Annual Meeting

Anatomical Plastination

- 2010 - International Society for Plastination Annual Conference

JOURNAL PUBLICATIONS

VAC Therapy to the Brain: A Safe Method for Wound Temporization in Complex Scalp and Calvarial Defects

- 2015 - Annals of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery

What Made Them Successful: An Introspective Survey of AAPS Members

- 2015 - Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery: Global Open

An Evaluation of Plastic Surgery Resident Selection Factors

- 2014 - Journal of Surgical Education
-
-

LEADERSHIP

American Society for Plastic Surgeons, Resident Liaison

▪ 2017 - Present

▪ Coordinated national goals and initiatives at a program specific level to enhance the educational and clinical components of plastic surgery residency.

National Collegiate EMS Foundation, Southeast Regional Coordinator

▪ 2006 – 2011

▪ NCEMSF (National Collegiate Emergency Medical Services Foundation) is a non-profit organization uniting college ambulance services, with legal, financial, and clinical resources. Individual role at NCEMSF is to help develop national initiatives, implementing them at a regional level.

Eastern Virginia Medical School Admissions Committee, Board Member

▪ 2010 - 2011

▪ One of two medical students appointed to the admissions committee for a 3-year term (transferred in 2011). Gave tours and conducted interviews for prospective students, in addition to evaluation of applications.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Anatomy Course Instructor, University of Hawaii

▪ 2010

▪ Taught half of the lectures and dissections for the summer course. Responsibilities included tissue preparation, exam development, etc. Attended conferences for both the American Association of Clinical Anatomists and the International Society for Plastination (including plastination course presentation).

MCAT Teacher, Kaplan University

▪ 2010

- Developed lesson plans resulting in high performance scores. Invited to return during future summers.

Neurology Data and Controls Analyst, Children's Hospital Boston

▪ 2008 – 2009

▪ Worked as an integral part of a research initiative, designing a database team, setup guidelines and procedures for future endeavors. Role involved extensive teamwork, communication and networking with physicians and hospital administrators, as well as problem solving, planning, and critical thinking skills.

Resident Assistant, Duke University

▪ 2007

▪ As a supervisor to over 40 residents, responsibilities included conflict mediation, event planning and community building exercises, counseling, resident wellbeing, and staff development presentations.

AWARDS AND HONORS

- Duke University URS Research Grant
- Knights of Pythias FDR Lodge Scholarship Award
- South Eastern Society for Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery - Resident Jeopardy Winner
- Coca – Cola Scholarship Semifinalist
- Coach's Award - Rower of the Year, Captain